Hagerstown, Md., March 29 (INS.)—A great wall of water is rushing down the Potomac River this afternoon. Already a half million dollars of damage has been done. The entire Georges Creek section is under water. Many persons at Piedmont and Westport have been forced to flee for their lives. Walls Creek is overflowing, flooding many streets in Cumberland.

Railroad service has been suspended entirely on the Western Maryland system west of here. Trains are stranded near Cumberland. No word has been received from the station at Shinnock's route from Cumberland to Baltimore.

Scenes of western Maryland towns have been flooded by the breaking of the Stony river dam, at the headwaters of the Potomac river, according to reports reaching here today.

At Cumberland, Md., hundreds of houses were inundated when Evitt's creek, a tributary of the Potomac, overflowed and hit a small town. The water above Cumberland near the bridge on a state line, was reported to be under water.

No casualties have been reported, but the damage is expected to run into the thousands of dollars.

St. Louis, Mo., March 29 (INS.)—Four persons were reported killed, seven seriously injured, and scores painfully hurt, many houses destroyed, telephone poles blown down, trees uprooted and train cars in some sections demolished, by a series of tornadoes that swept over Missouri and Western Illinois last night and early today.

Clarkburg, W. Va., March 29 (INS.)—Transportation and wire communication of all kinds are blocked as the result of the heavy rains, and resulting floods, through North-western Harrison county and lower Wetzel and Tyler counties.

Shenandoah, Harrison county, and vicinity are flooded. Interurban traction trains are tied up, and the short line branch of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad is out of commission.

It was also reported that a huge landslide on the seventeen-mile grade of the Grafton, W. Va., on the Baltimore and Ohio has hampered through traffic.

Shawnee, Oklahoma, Is Swept By A Hurricane; Eight Die, Scores Injured

Shawnee, Okla., March 29. (INS.)—Eight persons are dead, 20 seriously hurt, two probably fatally and 60 others slightly injured today as a result of the tornado which swept thru here late yesterday.

The path of the torp. lo was two blocks wide and nine blocks long. Approximately 200 houses were swept away in the first residential section of the city, causing heavy property damage. Many children escaped death as the school building from which they had been dismissed only a few minutes was demolished. Only the janitor was in the building.

The dead:
Thelma Wilson, 20; L. M. Huddleston, 80; Miss Wilson's grandfather; Miss Elizabeth Pengler, 65; Mrs. Myrtle W. Cunningham, 20 of Oregon; J. G. Coffam, Elie Callan, 4; W. D. Loy, E. J. Ellison, Mrs. John Payter and a small daughter of Louis Johnson.

The town swept with fury over the entire state, reports of heavy damage being received.

A heavy rain preceded the cyclonic winds which struck Shawnee about four o'clock in the afternoon.

The rain and wind was general throughout the State, temperatures dropping to around freezing. The cold wave today was spreading generally.

FOUR TRAINMEN LOSE LIVES IN COLLAPSE OF OHIO BRIDGE

Newark, Ohio, March 29. (INS.)—Four trainmen lost their lives when a Baltimore and Ohio freight train crashed through a bridge near here today.

The dead are:
Lou Castella, engineer; H. F. Garrison, fireman; J. A. Bidwell, conductor; and John Powell, brakeman.

The bridge, over a creek, weakened by flood water, collapsed as the engine reached the center. The entire train dived into the stream below, and the trainmen were buried beneath the wreckage.

Washington, March 29.—The political campaign of 1924 that will get under way with a whoop as soon as falling gavel marks the close of the two great nominating conventions probably will set new high records in American politics for bitterness, intensity, mud-slinging and partisanship.

The shouting and bickering, charge and countercharge, which for months has kept Washington in a turbulent state, constitute merely the prelude to the full chorus that will swing into action in July, according to all indications.

WHEELER COMMITTEE HEARS WITNESSES ON WHISKY DEALS

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, March 29.—Although Harry M. Daugherty has returned to the ranks of private citizenry, the Wheeler committee today continued its investigation into charges of corruption brought against his administration of the Department of Justice.

The Attorney General's retirement wrought no immediate change in the committee's plans of procedure. On the contrary, it was announced by Senator Wheeler, Democrat of Montana, acting "prosecutor" that the investigation would be continued until every charge of official corruption was proven or dismissed and those guilty of wrong doing brought into court.

Daugherty's personal counsel welcomed the committee's decision, declaring the former Attorney General was determined to refute by competent witnesses every charge that in any way involved either his official or private life.

"Mr. Daugherty will disprove every charge against him and he welcomes an opportunity for a day in court," said Paul Howland, his personal attorney. "It would be utterly unfair to Mr. Daugherty to stop the Senate committee's proceedings before he has had an opportunity to defend himself against these baseless charges."

Reports of a $100,000 whiskey deal were aired today.

Nicholas Cimino, a New York restaurant owner, said Elias H. Mortimer, chief accuser of Col. Charles R. Forbes, had engineered the deal.

With Senator Wheeler, Democrat of Montana, acting "prosecutor," again absent due to illness, Senator Brookhart, Republican of Iowa, conducted the examination of Cimino.

"Do you remember a whiskey deal in which Mortimer was to get $100,000?" asked Brookhart.

"Yes, I overheard a conversation in which it was said Mortimer had made $100,000 on a deal with somebody in Pittsburgh."

On cross examination, Cimino denied he knew of any money being paid to Department of Justice officials in liquor deals.

He also denied that the Attorney General was involved in the deals in any way.

Washington, March 29.—With two scalps dangling from their belts—those of Denby and Daugherty—the Senatorial Tomahawks turned their attention today to "getting" still another member of President Coolidge's cabinet, Secretary of the Treasury, Andrew Mellon, and developments as sensational as those which featured the Denby and Daugherty cases were freely predicted by those who are gunning for the Treasury head.

A resolution sponsored by Senator McKellar, Democrat of Tennessee, directing the Judiciary committee to investigate Mellon's fitness and eligibility to hold office, slumbered on the table in the Senate today. It will be called upon Monday and debated with all the savagery that has characterized similar debates in the hectic days of the last two months.

The resolution stands a good chance of passing.

The Democrats with few exceptions are opposed to Mellon and his policies. His persistent attacks upon their tax schedules some of which (Continued on Page Two.)

"YOU FIRST, MY DEAR GASTON," SAY MEDICAL MEN, ONE TO THE OTHER, WHEN COLORED AMAZON WANTS TO DO BATTLE

County Medical Director Dr. A. D. Cowdick, Dr. J. M. Quigley, president of the local Board of Health, and Secretary Gaulin, of the Health Board, are good fellows all right and we believe are the right men for the official positions they hold, but they "hain't got no sand," no, sir, nary a one of them.

Yesterday morning after landing Benny Murphy, the latest smallpox victim, behind the bars of a strict quarantine at the home of Archy Kirk, where Murphy boarded, the health officials began a round-up of the neighborhood for the purpose of vaccinating or quarantining those known or suspected of having been in contact with Murphy while he was going about with the disease.

In the adjoining house, occupied by Mrs. Freeman and family, where Murphy, it is said, had been visiting from time to time, the inmates were not only vaccinated but placed under the required 12-day quarantine as contacts. The health rules provide that where a contact is located within five days of such contact all that is necessary as a precaution against the disease is vaccination; after five days is styled the incubation period of the disease, hence the quarantine to the end of the 12-day period.

NO MYSTERY ABOUT LEAVING

Sheriff Lowell and District Attorney Arnold returned last evening from Osceola, where they had been called to investigate the disappearance from that community of Orlando Merriman. Merriman had not been seen about the town since Sunday last and as the house in which he lived alone looked as though the interior had been struck by a cyclone, it was feared that the man had been murdered.

A search of the neighborhood failed to elicit any information as to the man's whereabouts, but enough was learned to lead to the belief that Merriman decided to slip away from his usual haunts for a spell.

Homestead Cagers Win From Harrisburg Tech; Play Nanticoke Tonight

State College, Pa., Mar. 29. (INS.)—Homestead High School by doubling the score of its opponent, the strong Harrisburg Tech quintet, last night grabbed a strangle hold on the championship in the all-state tourney. The final score was 36 to 18 with the Western Pennsylvania champs on the happy end.

The game was a big surprise as the Harrisburg boys were being touted for the championship.

Nanticoke, present state champions, pulled out of a bad hole against Johnstown High, and won by a 46 to 29 score. The champions were trailing at the end of the first half with a 25 to 21 score.

Nanticoke and Homestead meet tonight, and the winning team may compete in the national tournament starting next Tuesday at Chicago. More than 40 state championship teams will take part in the tournament, and an invitation has been extended to the winner of the tournament here to compete.

ALCORN WITHDRAWS AS CANDIDATE FOR G. O. P. CHAIRMAN

The Republican Party in Clearfield County will not be disrupted this year by any quarrel over party leadership and direction as was the hope of a few of its members. Ever since the announcement that A. Lee Edwards, the efficient and able County Chairman would be a candidate for reelection there was a very general approval. Just a few days ago G. Milton Alcorn, former member of the legislature and well known Republican of the city of DuBois, announced his candidacy. Last evening Mr. Alcorn announced his withdrawal from the race leaving the field clear for Mr. Edwards.

Mr. Edwards is now serving his second term as County Chairman. Under his leadership the party organization has been brought to a high standard of efficiency. Under his leadership the party has elected every one of its candidates to county office so that now every office in the court house is manned by a Republican. In view of his success the great majority of Republicans expressing themselves of the opinion that his service should be retained and made secure for another two years at least.

Mr. Alcorn had the very best of motives in announcing his candidacy. Always a staunch Republican he sought to serve his party in a capacity that would give greater opportunity for service. On representations made to him he believed that the time was here for a change in leadership.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 29. The agreement is in substance the Jacksonville agreement reached between operators and miners of the central competitive field.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 29. (INS.)—The Central Pennsylvania Bituminous Coal Operators' Association this morning ratified the agreement calling for continuance of present wages for three-year period and ended the district No. 2 controversy with only the formally remaining of drawing up the agreement in detail and signing it. This formality will be attended to this afternoon at a joint meeting of the sub-scale committees of the operators and the miners.

The agreement, which now has been approved by both employers and employees, is in substance the Jacksonville pact which will govern the Central Competitive Field for the next three years.

The result of the controversy is considered a distinct victory for the miners. Their original demands included continuance of the present wage rates for three years instead of one, together with amendments looking toward betterment of working conditions.

Pittsburgh, March 29.—The dull, drab life within prison walls does not prevent a year of such existence from producing some interesting statistics, according to the fifty-fourth annual report of the Allegheny County Workhouse and Inebriate Asylum just made public here. Earnings of the workhouse for the last year were $194,256, including $87,582 received from other counties having agreements for confining prisoners in the local institution.

During the year there was a total of 3,342 prisoners received in the county jail. At the end of the year, 823 male and 15 female prisoners were in the institution.

There were 194 miners and 113 log-house workers arrested. The next occupation in line for the doubtful honor of having a majority in jail were the cooks and chauffeurs, tied with 109 of each received during the year.

Other occupations and professions listed as occupants were actors, 2; auto repairmen, 52; brakemen, 16; barbers, 43; carpenters, 39; detectives, 1; dentists, 2; farmers, 60; painters, 72; pugilists, 2; salesmen, 29; waiters 73 and undertakers, 2.

Five prisoners escaped without recapture.

The offenses for which the prisoners were committed ranged from abandoning an infant to wife beating.

STAYING AT HOME

Fewer people are said to be traveling now. The cause is not altogether certain, but it is credited to radio.

It cannot be poor business and hard times, because business is holding up well, as railroad traffic shows, and nearly everybody is working at good wages, with goods being bought about as rapidly as they are produced.

People, it seems, simply are not so much inclined to leave their own fireplaces since radio brought the outer world to them. They can get sermons and lectures and concerts without leaving home. They can get the market reports out of the air. They can enjoy the neighborhood dances to radio music from a distance. They can hear travel talks and attend plays, sitting comfortably in their own arm chairs.

Spring and summer will make a difference, with their outdoor life and the pull of far horizons. And the convenient radio will help in that direction. But it may be that an opposing factor has come to check the travel habit just when it was growing strong, and strengthen the lure of home when it was weakening.

If this is the case, there is a certain moral triumph in it. Travel is good for people, generally speaking, and is to be encouraged. Yet as between everlastingly gadding abroad and staying at home, the latter is more important. Something was needed to enable home to compete with the outer world. It may be that the radio set is going to take the place of the old-time travel agent as a focal center of family life.

THE WAY TO RECOVER

Mr. H. Price, editor of Commerce and Finance, looking at the business conditions in the Northwest, has found them as they are expected, because of the spirit in which the business men of that hard-hit region are facing the situation. He has found that what in plain language would be called a "formula". It is a formula that a Minnesota merchant, who says his neighbors are saying that "early to bed and early to rise—work like hell and you will be the best way to recover from their business depression."

It is the best way for any section or community that finds itself in trouble. It is the best way for this country to recover from its depression. The formula is respectfully recommended to all business men, which really seems to be a recommendation to all business men, but has not yet put it into inspired words that would needs that formula.

THE DOG GUARDIAN

There is a shepherd dog belonging to the Henry family in Clearfield. He is the regular companion of little Clarence. One day when Clarence wandered off into a field, the dog naturally went along. When he saw the child he tried to pull him out but was unable to do so. He barked deeper and deeper as he struggled.

When "beat it" for the child's home at top speed. He barked and started barking and tugging at the skirts of the mother and grandmother, and almost by main strength pulled the child back to the house. Clarence by that time had sunk to his knees. The dog was just in time to save him.

A MAN TO MAN

OFFICE DAVIES

From the Progress Building, Clearfield, Pa., March 29, 1924. I have just found out that two of our office boys are different from the other two. One of them is a real man, and the other is a real woman.

One of them has discovered that it is better to convey his message and still understand the other man and keep friendly. The other has been increasing his knowledge of the office. Premier MacDonald has just written to me and said, "We have a great office here. We have a great office here. We have a great office here."

In words to this effect, Premier MacDonald has just written to me and said, "We have a great office here. We have a great office here. We have a great office here." I have just found out that two of our office boys are different from the other two. One of them is a real man, and the other is a real woman.

plainly at the next meeting of the next bridge luncheon that it is a perfect shame that Mrs. Jabb is so ungracious and only jealousy can explain it. Or she will close her lips in a tight smile and give such vague answers as to what the matter is, that half a dozen rumors are instantly set flying.

And supposing things are not going quite smoothly on a certain pretty street Mrs. A. is so sensitive. She hears something. Does she go to Mrs. X. and ask her, "as man to man," whether she really said it? Does she put it out of her head and decide that life is too short to pay any attention to neighborhood gossip? No, she doesn't. No, she doesn't. She turns her head when Mrs. X. walks by or tries to look through her fingers if they meet on the street, and lets the tears streak her face when she gets alone in her room. Lets the gossip rankle in mind and heart, and maybe spill off her tongue to Mrs. H.

Individuals or nations are easily set against each other these troubled times. The write or speaker who tries to drive a wedge between two members of the family of nations is a neighbor hood gossip magnified to high-power danger. When it is a case of neighbors falling out, the troublemaker wins quicker results and often times with ludicrously petty tools and material.

A straightforward, friendly question, such as Premier MacDonald asks of Premier Poincaré, and a frank answer, such as that which came back

The president of a great transcontinental railroad system lay in his bed in a Chicago hospital recovering from an operation. For days the faithful nurse had been quietly and regularly recording the sick man's temperature. One day he looked up to her and said: "I have been thinking that every movement of a temperature chart portrays the progress of a human life. Oh—if when men look at charts on business conditions they could only see them in terms of humanity! Every slightest movement up or down on such charts changes the lives of 100,000,000 people, the whole population of the United States. You yourself are among that 100,000,000. The movements of business reach out their influence to us all. Our chances of success vary daily with the variations of business as any chances of recovery vary with the movements of your chart."

Are You An Exception
People say, "Oh, this may be all right for other folks, but my situation is different. Fundamental law doesn't affect me at all." Such people are wrong; it does affect all groups and all classes. The heads of a large business once showed me charts indicating how his business was growing, month after month and year after year. He shut his eyes, however, to all warnings. He refused to make any preparations to meet the storm that was plainly coming. When the storm finally broke, it dashed him upon the rocks of bankruptcy. He failed financially, physically and spiritually.

Then there are the farmers. Farmers often think they lead an independent life. "Fundamental law," they say, "applies to bankers and business men but not to farmers." They even want Congress to legislate fundamental law out of existence or exempt them from its jurisdiction. But what happens in a period of depression? Down comes the price of wheat. Down comes the price of cotton. Down comes the price of other farm products. Like all the rest of the world, the farmer is hit by hard times. He is hit by the Law of Action and Reaction.

There is no escape from this eternal and universal law. One cannot escape it by changing his occupations. One cannot escape it by moving to another locality, because this law rules all localities. This law of success is like the law of gravity, controlling the life of each one of us wherever we may be living and whatever we may be doing.

There are many readers who are saying to themselves: "Well, well! this seems to be quite an important law, but I am sure it doesn't mean much in my life. The success of every one else may be affected, but my particular case is an exception. What do I care about these economic forces?" The following two or three examples may be worth while, as showing that there are no exceptions:

Charts and Churches
Here is the case of a minister of the gospel. He began his pastoral duties during a period of business depression. At such a time, there is always a marked revival of interest in religion. One can show the actual figures to prove that church membership grows faster during hard times than during good times. This minister was very successful. The people flocked to his church and listened attentively to his preaching. He felt—and naturally so—that he was destined to do a great good in the world, that he was truly "called" to the ministry, that success was assured to him.

There came a day when his people seemed to be gradually slipping away from him and turning more and more to worldly affairs. Religious interest was distinctly on the wane, and membership in his church began to decline. Conversions became less frequent. First one sign and then another began to point to the apparent fact that he was losing his hold and was not a success. He even began to doubt whether he had truly been called to his holy mission or had entered upon a mistaken vocation.

Had this minister been familiar with the fundamental law of Action-Reaction and realized that there are no exceptions to its operation, no such doubts would have assailed him. He would have realized that in the earlier period of his pastorate a very large share of his success was due, not to his peculiar personal power, but rather to the fundamental conditions of the time. It was not so much his own influence that brought people into the fold as it was the chastening of economic adversity. On the other hand, when times changed and a wave of reckless prodigality swept the land, the minister ought to have recognized that his loss of influence was due not so much to any failure on his part as it was to the wayward tendencies that always accompany a business boom.

School Teachers & Business
School teachers who read these articles will probably be astounded that few classes of people are so profoundly affected by this fundamental law as are schoolteachers. School teachers have what is commonly known as a fixed income. For example, a teacher may begin teaching on a salary of $1,000 to $1,500 a year. In course of time this salary may be increased somewhat, but in the main the salary range is pretty definitely fixed and limited. It is unfortunate that the cost of living is not likewise fixed. ANNUAL ELECTION AT
Y. M. C. A. BANQUET

The Annual election of Board of Young Men's Christian Association of Clearfield will be held in conjunction with the annual banquet to be held in St. John's Lutheran church social hall on next Tuesday evening, April 1st.

The nominating committee, W. P. Sheeder, Chairman, Wm. I. Betts and Cecil Bloom will make a report at the banquet and will no doubt suggest several additional representative men of Clearfield to be added to those already serving on the Board. The list was posted on the bulletin at the Association office ten days in advance of the election date, according to the by-laws.

The banquet committee, Chairman William Bigler, W. E. McMurray, A. W. Lee, Jr., Harry Mann and Victor Frendberg, will meet early this evening to make final arrangements for the program on April 1st. The Chairman requests all men to have their acceptances in the mail today, so that the Willing Workers' Society of St. John's Lutheran church will know how many to plan for, to insure the best service for all. The dinner will be served promptly at 6:30 on Tuesday night.

The committee is fortunate in having the American Legion Orchestra play during the early part of the banquet and it will be a real treat for those attending. The team loving cup and individual prizes will be awarded to the winners of the Inter-Church Bowling tournament which comes to a close Monday night. The men attending will have an opportunity to hear at first hand of the activities and future plans of the Association. It is expected a large audience of Clearfield men will turn out to hear the address of the evening by the guest of honor, James B. Graham of Williamsport.

Tom Sims Says

Our government prints a booklet on keeping worms out of the garden. If we could turn loose some flying fish they would help.

More people would be sensible if it didn't take so much practice.

Cast your bread upon the waters and it will draw the fish, according to the oil stock salesmen.

Sing Sing reports a good ball team this year, maybe with the idea of knocking the ball over the fence and chasing it.

It is a hungry moth that has lived on one bathing suit all this winter.

The boys lites are making some people look up for the first time since last fall.

A Detroit man was poisoned by eating some hot dogs, perhaps because the hot dogs went mad.

Wouldn't it be nice if we always were as nice as we sometimes are?

The trouble with guessing at the height of spring dresses is you never can tell what designers will be up to next.

Coolidge ought to be able to play a good golf by imagining the ball is some spongy head.

It is not clean-up-time until you can leave the windows clean up.

Things are getting so a dog can't bury a bone without worrying over some digging committee digging it up.

Too many bank cashiers are escaping after a spring cleaning.

Curwensville's Own Column

Mrs. W. B. Ammerman entertained the members of the S. S. Club at her home on Scofield street. There was a large number present and the evening was spent in the different enjoyments which only can be devised by a lot of ladies on short notice. Before the guests were permitted to depart a delightful and refreshing luncheon was served to which ample justice was done.

You'll Try Anything Once Our Service Brings You Back

"Service"—that much abused word—takes on a new lease of life the minute you step in our door. We're here to greet you with a smile, serve your wants as expeditiously as possible, show you some new things, and "Thank You" with a real sense of gratitude for your business.

That's the foundation upon which we are building for the future. We want you to continue to come here. There is an old axiom in the selling business that it's easier to get new customers than hold old ones. That's true. Anyone will try anything once—that's characteristic of our great American people. But to repeat, everything must please in all ways and this is what we want you to realize when we say to you, "Come back again."

The Right Way

It has always been rather a theory of ours that there was only one way that it pays to do anything, and that way is the RIGHT way.

And so we have incorporated this theory into our work, and we proceed on the basis that the best way, the RIGHT way, is the only way for us. We think it a good policy.

OHIO COAL AND TIMBER MAN A SUICIDE

According to the physician who examined the body Croxton first attempted to hang himself, but was unsuccessful.

"You First, My Dear Gaston"

Just after the Freeman home had been quarantined, a colored girl from a neighboring home appeared upon the scene, was vaccinated and allowed to ramble on. That act started the fireworks. Misery is said to love company, but we can't say whether that is true or not, but we do know that when those doctors allowed the vaccinated one to leave they sure stirred up a hornet's nest.

One of the girls who didn't like this other "cullud gal nohow" anyhow, immediately went into action and what she didn't tell those doctor fellows about favoritism, persecution and such wasn't worth talking about or she forgot.

She doesn't avoidpouls more than 75 pounds when she's fat, but every ounce of that weight is fightin' wildcat, and after working herself into a frenzy she challenged the other lady to personal combat, but was not accommodated and then enlarged the scope of her battle cry by rolling up her sleeves and declaring she "just craved a fight," and directing her remarks to the three health officials offered to do battle with each in turn.

For fear the gentlemen would consider her challenge to mortal combat too general, she solicited each one in turn and by name to come to grips with her.

Cowdick excused himself, deftly passing the buck to Quigley, stating that his commission required that he defend the fair name of the State Health Department by his physical prowess outside the borough only, while his colleague as head of the Borough Health Department, was in duty bound to accept the challenge. Quigley said while he was Irish his family of Quigley's were not "fightin' Irish," and besides Secretary Gaulin was expected to do the battling for the local Health Board. Gaulin excused himself on the ground that being an old bachelor, he never had any experience fighting with women and would therefore have to be excused, he too refusing the challenge to combat.

With that the three big husky fellows retired from the scene, while the lady continued to hurl challenge after challenge after them as she urged them all or any one of them to come back and fight her like a man.

No wonder the country is going to the dogs, when men like that are put in such positions. Meanwhile the "fightinest wil'cat" in the Fourth Ward is under quarantine.

Peculiar Circumstances In Killing Of Railroad Man at White Horne, Va.

White Horne, Va., March 29. (INS).—Martin Redrick, a former Virginia Railway engineer, is dead today, and Harry White, a telegraph operator, employed on the road, is charged with the killing.

White, a cripple, is said to have been annoyed during the night by rocks thrown at the depot where he was at work. Revolver shots are also said to have been fired. He obtained a revolver from a passing freight train, White told officers and when a second bullet was fired from the darkness, he returned the fire.

At daybreak, White discovered Redrick's body lying alongside the track at the spot where shots had come from, he declared.

Miss Beatrice McDowell has been ill for several days at her home 902 Dorey street.

THREE ENTOMBED AT SHINNSTOWN MINE IN WEST VIRGINIA

Shinnston, W. Va., March 29. (INS).—Workmen were frantically tearing at debris in the Henshaw Coal mine, No. 1, three miles from here this afternoon in an effort to liberate John McDill, Superintendent of the mine and at least two miners caught in an explosion just before noon.

The valley on which the mine opens is flooded from heavy rains and water is pouring in the mine. Workmen are trying to reach the interior workings of the mine, by digging at a point several hundred feet in the rear of the mine entrance.

CLEARFIELD BOWLERS TAKE PRIZES AT PHILIPSBURG

Clearfield bowlers made a very creditable showing in the recent bowling tournament held at Philipsburg in competition with teams from six other cities.

In the doubles W. H. Wilson and H. M. Roseberry took second prize with 1095 pins which is an average of 182 1/2 each per game. They missed first prize by three pins, the strong Altoona bowlers making 1098.

To R. W. Kinkhead, the popular young checkerist and bowler of East End Methodist church, belongs the credit of winning first prize in the singles with 221 pins out of a possible 300.

The five man team representing Clearfield held first place the first five days of the tournament and lost out to the Altoona quintet. The next big event in bowling line is the National Rotarians' bowling contest and the Clearfield enthusiasts are already warming up for a leading prize in the big event.

was threatened with the worst flood since the one of 1889, today. Already hundreds of thousands of dollars damage have been caused by the high waters. The Potomac river is expected to leave its banks this afternoon. All of its tributaries have overflowed.

Preparations were being made by residents along the river from Cumberland to Georgetown. Everything is being moved to high lands as a result of warnings that a wall of water was expected at Williamsport (Maryland) late this afternoon.

The entire Georges Creek district is inundated. Scores of miners and their families have fled from their homes in those districts.

All train service on the Western Maryland system, the largest passing through this section of the state, suspended at noon today. Two passenger trains are marooned at Keyser, West Va., while no word has been received from the special train bearing hundreds of Shriners to a big convention in Baltimore. The train left Cumberland early this morning.

In Piedmont three feet of water is standing in the streets near the river.

The Potomac river is rising at the rate of thirty inches an hour. At 1 o'clock this afternoon. Mountain streams are taking torrents, aided by the rain last night and today, which caused the heavy snows in the higher sections to melt. All of these streams empty into the Potomac river. It was raining here this afternoon and no indications of any let-up tonight.

broadsides, and asking itself, incidentally, if this is the March prelude to the campaign, what will the campaign itself bring once it gets under way.

leadership and announced. Immediately, however, his friends got in touch with him, and while assuring him of their support in the event of his staying in the race, they freely expressed their views. Whereupon Mr. Alcorn canvassed the situation most thoroughly and on the basis of his findings and the knowledge he had of the results obtained by Chairman Edwards he refused to go further for the chairmanship.

Mr. Alcorn has shown a spirit of personal sacrifice that will win the approval of Republicans generally.

PICKING SUCCESSOR TO DAUGHERTY IS FAVORITE SPORT

Personal Choice of the President Is Said to Be Chief Justice Rugg of Mass. Supreme Court.

OTHERS IN RACE

By GEORGE E. DURNO
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)
Washington, March 29.—Confronted with a score of names, and lashed on all sides by boosters and detractors thereof, President Coolidge swept routine aside today and engaged in a still hunt for a man to fill the second break in the cabinet he inherited nine months ago from the late President Harding.

For most in the ranks of aspiring candidates to succeed Harry M. Daugherty as Attorney General of the United States, it was learned from White House sources, are two sons of Amherst, the President's alma mater—one from New York and one from Massachusetts.

Harlan Fiske Stone, until recently dean of the law school of Columbia University, and Arthur P. Rugg, chief justice of the supreme court of Massachusetts, are the respective candidates.

Stone is being urged on Mr. Coolidge as a particularly happy choice. His friends are pointing out that from the standpoint of legal experience his dozen or more years at the head of a great university law school, fit him pre-eminently for the post. Further because of this connection, Stone cannot be accused of having been tied up with oil or big business in such a way as to make him a target for senatorial attack.

Another factor that boosters of Stone are not allowing to escape the President's attention is the political expediency of his appointment. New York, they assert, is doubtful so far as the Republican party is concerned, and selection of Nicholas Murray Butler's associate might help politically. Justice Rugg is said to be the President's personal choice. The hope of renewing the cry that "Massachusetts is in the saddle," however, may frighten the President away from his old friend and associate.

Judge William S. Kenyon, of Iowa, who declined the navy portfolio recently, is still another prospect. He has frankly admitted the attorney generalship is the only cabinet post he would care to take. Big business interests however, are set against him and his "trust busting" reputation, and because of his leadership of the farm bloc in the Senate.

Certain administration leaders in the Senate have started a movement to get Secretary of State Charles E.

Hughes to take a temporary "demotion" and pilot the Department of Justice clear of the storm.

These Senators are undertaking to show that such a turn for actuality would be a great honor to Hughes, signifying as it would that he was the one man of unquestioned integrity and legal ability to whom the President could lean in time of stress.

Hughes, nevertheless, is not said to be "very keen" about such an arrangement, despite the argument that he has virtually cleaned up the nation's foreign affairs.

Others who have been mentioned include Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, who, it is said, would not be transferred; Senator George Wharton Pepper, of Pennsylvania, and Senator Wm. E. Borah, of Idaho, who have indicated unwillingness to leave the Senate; and Governor Alex Groves of Michigan, who already has conferred with the President, but who failed to get a cabinet offer.

CLARKS HAVE HARD LUCK IN FLORIDA

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 24, 1924. My dear Connelly:—

Our visit to St. Petersburg, Fla., this winter has been one of hard luck and sickness. I was confined to my bed early in the winter for three weeks. When I recovered Mrs. Clark was stricken with a nervous breakdown and is now confined to her bed at the city hospital. At this writing is getting along nicely. The doctors say she will recover but it will take time and we will not get home before early May. We have many Clearfield callers to cheer us up. Yesterday Mr. Banta and wife, Frank Read and wife, Rev. Joe Gearhart and wife, Belle Read, all gave us the glad hand of cheer. I write this letter for publication so that our home friends know our situation.

THOS. E. CLARK,

St. Petersburg, Fla.
